Changes are a fact of life. Whether we accept them or not, they go on and they affect the people we know, the things we do and the places we live and visit.

Each new semester and each new year have characteristics all their own which set them apart from the rest. The past summer at Lambuth was no exception. A few "old" faces were missing but "new" ones had somehow taken their places.

The cultural interchange between the Japanese and the American students was beneficial to both groups.

President Harry W. Gilmer's comments.

The Lambuth Community was honored to host the summer orientation program of the East-West Foundation. The work of the foundation, inspired by Dr. Ken Nishimura, is increasingly important in the world of the late 20th century. People throughout the world are coming to recognize more and more the interdependence of nations and cultures. Our educational systems, our colleges and universities have given only lip service to this interdependence for the most part. We must do more than this . . . Our Japanese student guests enriched our lives this past summer and brought a new dimension of understanding to the Lambuth Community. We hope that our guests benefited equally well from this exchange.

— Dr. Harry W. Gilmer

Even nature in all her magnificent splendor flaunts her dramatic changes on Lambuth's campus.

During the past year, Freshman Orientation changed from fall to summer. This change gave the students the opportunity to become familiar with the campus and administration before their first classes. Furthermore, it enabled them to know personally their faculty advisers.

Then, too, the system of advising changed dramatically. Advising teams, composed of a faculty member and two outstanding upper classmen, were counselors for small groups of freshmen for the entire orientation period. These counselors will continue to guide the same groups during the freshman year.

Because of the concerned planning of President Gilmer, Dean Sherbine and others, all freshmen left the campus with a feeling of security as they faced a new experience, college life.

Bringing worlds together through education encourages change. On July 13, 1981, worlds came together when 115 Japanese students appeared on the Lambuth campus. Eager to get a first hand glimpse of American life and a comprehensive course in English, they began a seminar sponsored by Lambuth College and the East-West Foundation, a Tokyo-based non-profit organization, and concluded the seminar six weeks later.

Dr. Nishimura who directed the program stated that the students learned much about American culture, customs, and the American way-of-life.

After their 25 hour-a-week training sessions were completed, all but four students dispersed to 30 different colleges. Pictured below with Peer Adviser Kay Hereford and Head Librarian Judith Hazlewood are the four who remained: Ken Saito, Norisha Shibuya, Hiroshi Toyoshima, and Masanori Hirabayash.

Faculty and administration gathered from Hawaii, Japan, Georgia, Illinois, Ohio and Tennessee. Pictured with students front row, left to right, are Dr. and Mrs. Ken Nishimura, daughter Akko above, and brother, K. Nishimura, Dr. Annie Lou Smith, Mrs. Jo Booth, Paul Finney, Mrs. Molly Perry, Mrs. Mitsuru Nishimura, Dr. Harry W. Gilmer, Dr. and Mrs. Walter H. Whybrew, Miss Jennie Houser, Miss Ruth Oyadormi, Mrs. Pat Dungan, Miss Amy Fithian, Mrs. Jo Anne Eilenberg, and Mrs. Kitty Gleeson.

The new summer program for freshmen projected into the new year.

Strains of soft music and elegant arrangements of beautiful fall flowers, bamboo, ferns and candlelight greeted faculty, staff and friends of Lambuth College as they welcomed Dr. and Mrs. Bruce Sherbine, the newest additions to the college community.

Dr. Sherbine succeeds Dr. Walter H. Whybrew as academic dean and Mrs. Sherbine is the director of information.

The Common Room of the College Union, selected by Dr. and Mrs. Harry W. Gilmer for the reception and decorated by Larry Ray, was a lovely setting for the occasion.

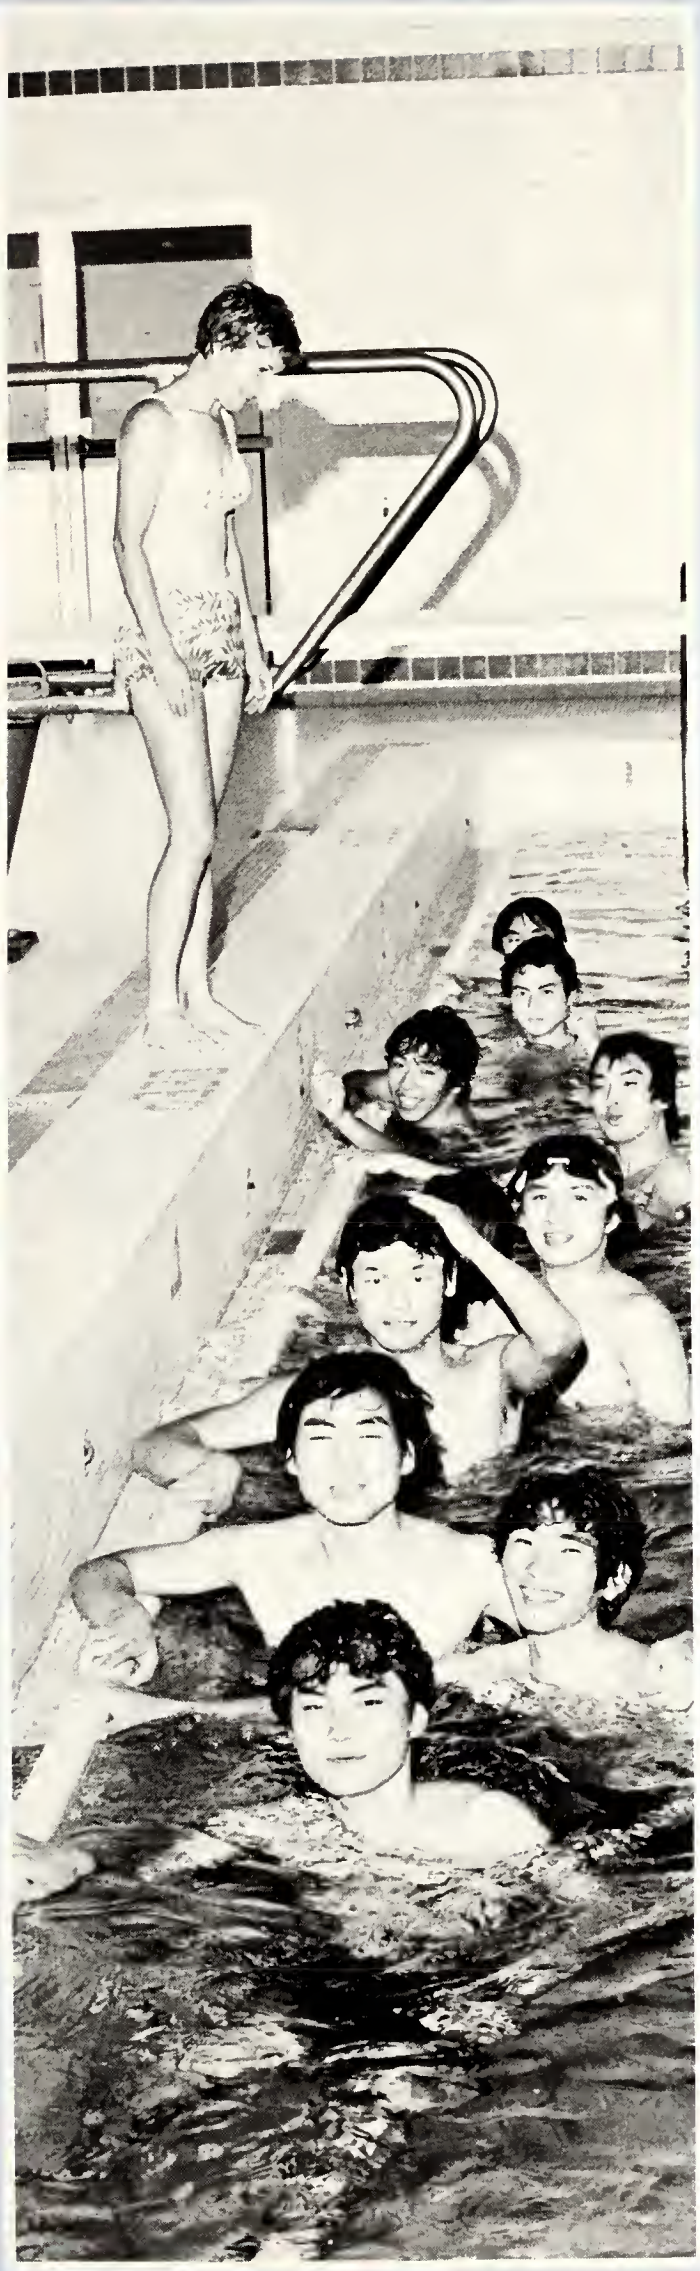

RECORDS

Whether living on-campus or off-campus, students' priorities during the first week of school were moving and exercising. For some of the dormitory residents, moving in was a little more complicated than was exercising for the well-trained athletes.

Greek Organizations

Panhellinic Council

As a result of the new administrative system, the PANHELLENIC and INTERFRATERNITY COUNCILS experienced a change in personnel. Sara and Ed Phillips, the associate deans of students, assumed the duties of advisers to the Councils. Although each year the members of the two Councils differ, the organizational structures remain the same. Each sorority elects or appoints one voting delegate, and alternate delegate, and an officer of the Panhellenic Council. In addition, the presidents, rush chairmen, and advisers of the four sororities belong to the Council. The Interfraternity Council is composed of an officer, delegate, and the president of each fraternity with the faculty adviser of each as an ex-officio member.

social and scholastic standards, and providing a forum for discussion on common topics, the Panhellenic Council functions well.

Designed to administer and coordinate the general affairs of the men's fraternities, the Interfraternity Council promotes cooperation between the fraternities and the college administration, cooperation among the fraternities themselves, and promotes the aims and ideals of Lambuth College.

Serving as bonds of unity among all Greeks on campus, the Panhellenic and Interfraternity Councils supervised two special projects this past school year: Greek Rush activities during the fall — encouraging Greek affiliation — and Greek Philanthropic All-Sing during the spring. The councils used the proceeds from this philanthropic activity to aid a selected charity.

With an emphasis on service, the Omega Omicron chapter of ALPHA OMICRON PI did much during the past year to support its national philanthropy, the Arthritis Foundation. In the fall, the members collected contributions in a door-to-door campaign and sold pie at an AOPi supper on campus. With the success of a raffle supported by community businesses, the sorority raised over $900 for this worthy charity. Besides the donations to the Arthritis Foundation, the chapter sponsored a little girl overseas through the Compassion Program.

Alpha Xi Delta had a very busy and progressive year. After formal rush, the pledges and initiated members participated in many campus activities including Senior High School Day and Homecoming. During High School Day, Alpha Xi sponsored other events. For Homecoming, the sorority entered a banner and a float.

Also, Alpha Xi members had a cook-out, Halloween costume party, and a Crush party. To raise money for the philanthropy, the American Lung Association, the pledges sponsored a pumpkin carving contest and a dribble-a-thon.

As a final event of the fall semester, Alpha Xi Delta gave a Christmas tea for the faculty and staff in order to become better acquainted.

The chapter was well represented in every phase of campus life. Some members served in the Student government Association, with one as president, and four were elected to Who's Who. Other members were chosen as little sisters of all three fraternities, members of honor societies, and participants in Kaleidoscope.

For philanthropy Phi Mu gave a Halloween party for Boys' Youthtown, a local philanthropy; and a contribution to Project HOPE, a national philanthropy.

As a special contribution to a charity, the Sigma Kappa chapter went trick-or-treating for UNICEF on Halloween.

Hidden

I was walking and picked a tiny wildflower
Not a big, showy lily or a sweet-smelling hyacinth.
It was not the kind of flower that some charming, dear lady would notice and say,
"Esmeralda, darling, you grow the most bee-autiful flowers. How do you do it?"
It was hidden.
When I held it between my fingers out into the sun,
It sparkled like a thousand stars.
It was a indigo watercolor,
A blue night shining with stars,
A velvet cloth covered with tiny diamonds
I thought of how much more magnificent
It was than the orange day lily or the sweet hyacinth.
It had such beauty —
But it was hidden.

LAMBDA IOTA TAU, an honorary fraternity for students of English and foreign languages, gives students the opportunity to meet and to discuss literary topics of common interest. Those students interested in attaining membership and meeting the requirements of completion of twelve hours in upper level literature courses as well as a cumulative 3.0 grade point average must present a literary work to the group for criticism. Chartered on Lambuth's campus in 1956, the Alpha Xi chapter of this national literary fraternity is the oldest chapter in the state of Tennessee.

PI DELTA PHI, the newest honor society at Lambuth is the National French Honor Society. The local chapter cooperates with the national organization in striving to recognize outstanding scholarship in the French language and literature, to increase the knowledge of Americans for the contributions of France to world culture, and to stimulate and encourage cultural activities which lead to a deeper appreciation of France and its people.

Organized in 1930 for the purpose of recognizing outstanding academic achievement, OMICRON PHI TAU is Lambuth's local scholastic honor fraternity. Each semester students who have completed at least the first semester of their junior year and have attained a 3.5 grade point average or better are selected and initiated as members. Alumni retain their active status for life.

A service-leadership organization, GAMMA BETA PHI SOCIETY offers Lambuth students an opportunity to join a national fraternal association in academic endeavor. Scholastic requirement for membership is a 3.25 average for students having completed two or more terms of study or a 3.5 average for those having completed only one term. All members must maintain their high academic standings with at least a 3.0 average. As an example of its purpose of service this past year, the Society again co-sponsored the blood drive on Lambuth's campus.

Students and professors elected as members upon the basis of excellence in the study of history comprise the International History Soiety PHI ALPHA THETA. Promoting the study of history by encouragement of research and exchange of learning and thought among historians, this honor society seeks to bring students, teachers, and writers of history together intellectually and socially.

ALPHA PSI OMEGA, a national honorary dramatics fraternity, has an active chapter on Lambuth's campus. Students earn their membership to this fraternity through active participation in the theater both as drama participants and as behind the scenes participants. An annual variety show, appropriately named the Alpha Pside Show, features campus organizations and individuals displaying their many talents.

Buddy Rich
In Concert

During the past year, the Lambuth community had the opportunity to "get rich for the evening." Those who attended the Buddy Rich concert left wealthier, both personally and culturally. As a special surprise Lambuth's own "Trademark" consisting of Michelle Fisher, Davis Chappel, and Tom Woodard, performed as a warm-up for Buddy Rich. The noted musician proved to the audience exactly why he is considered a great performer. Just to see the smoothly executed motions of his hands belied a coordination that only true talent can claim. A "personable guy," as Dick Brown described him, Buddy Rich quickly developed a rapport with the audience that lasted throughout the concert.

Lambuth Day At The Mall

On Saturday, October 31, 1981, from 1:00 to 4:00 at Old Hickory Mall, the Lambuth College Jazz Band, led by director Dick Brown opened its season. "Lambuth Day at the Mall" was informative to the general public and fun for the participants. At the event Kaleidoscope, a highly select group of 15 singers under the leadership of Marcia Mittlestadt, new assistant professor of music, made its debut for the year. Also participating in the event were the Lambuth College cheerleaders under the guidance of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Walker. On hand to answer questions was a representative group of administrators who joined in the fun. Frolicking through the enthusiastic crowd were Lambuth students dressed as clowns who helped to establish the jovial atmosphere surrounding the event.

Homecoming

The November 1981-82 Homecoming luncheon "Soars like an Eagle."

The theme of the three-day observance of Homecoming was "Soar Like an Eagle." Director of Alumni Affairs Paul Finney planned later a bonfire. On the following day, alumni, faculty, and friends attended a reception honoring Dr. and Mrs. Sherbine and a luncheon in the Colonial Room where four people received awards from Lambuth.

The Luther L. Gobbel Award for Outstanding Faculty member is a new award offered by the Lambuth College Alumni Association, with nominations coming from students, faculty, and administration, and given to the faculty member "who exemplifies the attributes that Lambuth attempts to instill in its students. The recipient should demonstrate by his/her actions a deep and sincere commitment to the service of Lambuth College and to quality, Christian education." Dr. Bob J. Hazlewood received this award and Dr. Walter H. Whybrew gave the citation.

Also at the luncheon Professor Larry Ray read a history of the lives of the Wood K. Whetstones at Lambuth and presented a dual portrait to the college. The portrait was contributed by alumni, friends, faculty, students, and administrators.

At the afternoon basketball games the Lambuth Homecoming Queen and her Court were presented to the gymnasium-filled audience. After the ballgames and free time, Dr. and Mrs. Harry W. Gilmer opened their Northwood home for an alumni reception.

Madrigal Feaste

The fifth annual Lambuth College Madrigal Feaste occurred December 2 through 5 at 7:00 p.m. nightly in the Colonial Room of the College Union.

Festivities included an authentic Elizabethan dinner and a Madrigal Consort performed by Kaleidoscope, a student musical group. Other performers were Dr. Don Huneycutt on harpsichord, Dr. Russell McIntire as a troubador, Tom Price on guitar, Bill Taylor and Anne Burnette on recorders. Under the direction of Richard Brown, three students provided brass fanfares.

Carrying on the tradition of the Madrigal Feaste conceived five years ago by Frank C. Coulter, professor emeritus, Ms. Marcia Mittelstadt, assistant professor of music and director of Kaleidoscope, directed the program.

Designed by Larry Ray, an elaborate Elizabethan background and traditional costumes set the mood for delightful entertainment.

Viewed in the background are muscians Anne Burnette, Bill Taylor, Tom Price, Dr. Huneycutt, Dr. McIntire and Ginger Jones.

Guests enjoy the Magical Madrigal Feaste.

President Gilmer bows to Lambuth's first lady in the colonial setting of their home.

Williamsburg

The evening of Lambuth's second "Williamsburg Comes to Jackson" offered a festive experience during the month of December.

From the first sight of the path leading to 28 Northwood where the tour began, guests experienced the thrill of stepping back into time.

Candles glowing from within paper bags anchored by sand, illuminated the brick wall, at the end of which stood costumed President and Mrs. Harry Gilmer who greeted each guest with genuine Williamsburg hospitality.

Larry Ray with his interior design students researched and reproduced the colonial era. The costumes designed for the Gilmers were authentic as were the natural fruit decorations.

Crossing the Gilmer yard, the guests continued to the home of Dr. and Mrs. Tyler Swindle on Oakslea Place which was also decorated with the Williamsburg motif.

At the Swindle's home, Mrs. Nelle Cobb serves Dr. and Mrs. Rodger Bates authenic Williamsburg fare prepared by Mrs. June Creasy's Food Principles Class.

Men's Basketball

Only one starter, Tony Dawson, returned from last year's team. Dawson, a sharp-shooter from Alamo, Tennessee, and returning lettermen Reggie Kilzer, Terry McClarin, Joe Neely, Tom Scott, Steve Ormerod, and Jim Green had a good year.

For the year 1981-82, four fine freshmen were recruited: Marcus Glass and John Scott from Jackson, and Kelvin Nathaniel and Rickey Nabors from Munford. With good leadership and hard work, the team played well.

Having been selected "Coach of the Year" for the past three years by his fellow coaches in the Western Division of the Volunteer State Athletic Conference, Dr. Charles Bray began his eleventh year as Lambuth's basketball coach. His 1980-81 Eagles earned an impressive record and finished second in the VSAC Western Division. Even though the 1981-82 team was young, the year's rebuilding was a challenge for Coach Bray.

Our schedule is a little tough, but we expect to make a strong showing again this year."

Men's Soccer Club

In an effort to stimulate campus interest in soccer, a group of energetic students volunteered last fall to organize a men's soccer club with John Finney as coach and John Bonson as promoter. With appropriate dress provided by the college, the team challenged Union University, who, alas, won by a score of 6 to 3. The Lambuth men's spirits were not dampened, however, since the proceeds from the game went to a worthy cause — the United Way. Thanks, men, for your noble intentions!

Cheerleaders

Cheerleaders

The cheerleading squad drew positive reaction from both the student body and the Lambuth community. Besides cheering for basketball games, under the leadership of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Walker, the group promoted projects to encourage good relations and to earn money for new uniforms. Some of the projects included a Spirit Party for Union University, a Fall Clinic, an Invitational Competition, a Haunted Dormitory, a Mistletoe Ball, and Lambuth Day at the mall.

President Of Lambuth

On Friday, November 21, 1980, when Dr. Harry Wesley Gilmer was inaugurated as the fourteenth president of Lambuth College, he made pertinent comments in an address following his installation.

In his concluding statement, he challenged the faculty, students, administration, alumni, and trustees when he said: "Together we must seek again as others did before us to identify those values which we believe to be paramount, which we believe enhance our humanity and answer the deep spiritual quest for the meaning of our human existence. And that once identified, we consciously affirm them and put them into practice in this academic community."

More than a year has passed and, obviously, all members of the Lambuth community are seeking to follow this admonition.

Vice President And Academic Dean

Dr. K. Bruce Sherbine, of Winthrop College in Rock Hill, S.C., became the new vice-president and academic dean of Lambuth College on August 1, 1981, following the retirement of Dean Walter H. Whybrew.

A native of Johnstown, Pa., Dr. Sherbine was associate dean of the College of Arts and Sciences and associate professor of biology at Winthrop. He previously taught at Lycoming and Gettysburg Colleges in Pennsylvania. He was also a visiting assistant professor at North Carolina State University for eight summers.

He received a bachelor's degree in biology from Gettysburg, a master's degree in education from Temple University, and a Ph.D. from Pennsylvania State University.

Dr. Sherbine and his wife, Lorraine, have three children: Kate, Korey, and Kim.

At a special fall convocation, on October 23, 1981, Lambuth College seniors received nominations to Who's Who Among Students in American Colleges and Universities. Dr. K. Bruce Sherbine, speaker for the occasion, told students, "I urge you to break out of the mold to become that unique, special person that is you if you leave Lambuth College as the same person you were when you entered, we have failed.

Mrs. Sherbine, Kate, Dr. Sherbine, Kim, and Korey enjoy the campus.

Dr. Wilder Takes Early Retirement

As a minister, Dr. Wilder was often seen coming from the chapel,

The first President of Lambuth College, Dr. R.E. Womack, showed great interest in the expansive building program. Dr. Wilder discussed plans with him.

as an educator, he was often seen going into the library; and as an administrator, he was often seen talking with college friends.

Dr. Wilder constantly gave his attention to campus extra-curricular activities.

Dr. Luther L. Gobbel, second president of Lambuth, and Mrs. Gobbel welcomed the new president, Dr. James S. Wilder, Jr. and Mrs. Wilder.

Dr. James S. Wilder, Jr., whose career as Lambuth College President and Chancellor spanned nearly 20 years, retired December 31, 1981. At the time of his retirement, Dr. Wilder made this statement: "The welfare of this institution has always been uppermost in my thoughts and actions. I am totally convinced that my stepping aside at this time will be in the best interest of Lambuth and my friend, Dr. Harry W. Gilmer." During these 20 years, Dr. Wilder was involved not only with every phase of the Lambuth College community but also with all presidents who have served the college in its present location.

In an interview with Dr. Wilder in 1976, Michael L. Lawrence, a former student, assessed Dr. Wilder's career as follows: "Only a combination of professional descriptions could characterize Dr. James S. Wilder, Jr., scholar, administrator, educator and cleric. Since 1962, when he was elected president of Lambuth College in Jackson, Tennessee, this Florida native has proved himself worthy of all of these titles by serving as a distinguished servant, an able executive, a progressive academician and an experienced pastor."

Dr. James S. Wilder, Jr., Retiring Chancellor

Dr. Wilder greeted incoming president, Dr. Harry W. Gilmer.

Dr. Wilder showed interest in the maintenance area of the campus.

President and Mrs. Wilder were hospitable hosts at all social functions.

Dr. Wilder was an avid sports fan along with Dr. Walter Whybrew and Mr. Jim Mitchell.

Change Reflected In Faculty Retirement

Whetstone, Dean of Student Services; Mrs. Grace Whetstone, Associate Professor of English; and Mr. Frank Coulter, Assistant Professor of Music.

At the close of the 1981-1982 academic year two more dedicated faculty members will be retired: Dr. John R. DeBruyn, Professor of English and Chairman of the Department of English, who came to Lambuth in 1956 and Dr. Walter E. Activities Within The Social Sciences Division

This year has truly been one of change for Lambuth College. In acquiring a new computer system, Lambuth has made provision for its future wellbeing and has at the same time opened new doors of opportunity and development in the life of the college.

With the addition of a DEC 11/70 model that has several terminals in various classes and offices all over campus, the new system allows several people to be on the computer simultaneously. Two line printers permit students to operate and receive report print-outs without interfering with administrative reports being generated by the second printer. It also supports several languages. The Math and Physics Department uses the BASIC programming language, whereas the Business Data Processing Department makes use of COBOL, FORTRAN, and RPG II.

Primary administrative offices using the computer are the registrar's office, the business office, financial aid office, development office, and the library. The new system will be able to process information much more effectively and efficiently, a convenience which will result in an overall cost reduction for the college.

Dr. Billie P. Exum, Mr. John Bonson, and Mr. David Ogden are elated over the new computer system.

Mrs. Jean Creasy demonstrates a cooking method for her students.

Psychology Major Sara Matthews tests Martha Miller's "reaction time."

Activities . . .

Education Professor Evelyn Whybrew introduces students to language laboratory machines in the Learning Enrichment Center.

Mrs. Judith Hazlewood teaches a library science course in the field of education.

A sociology class views a film.

Students in a business class seem to be entranced with a student lecturer.

Some students continue to use the "old" equipment.

Education, Psychology, and Sociology Courses involve students with children.

Curriculum

Dr. Charles Mayo, Director of Honors Program

Honor Program

After the adoption of the Lambuth College Honors Program in the spring of 1978, Dr. Charles Mayo was appointed director of the program. As director, he selected and recruited new honors students, served as an adviser for these students in relation to the Honors Program, taught in all six semesters of the program, coordinated faculty selection to the program, and guided the comprehensive planning of the newly designed program at Lambuth.

The Lambuth College Honors Program is committed "to restore for serious students the atmosphere in which communication amoung humans is essential." This atmosphere is developed through interdisciplinary courses which challenge both students and faculty to discuss knowledge gained through reading material which conveys the history of humankind, including his thoughts, his art, his religion, and his discoveries.

In the process of such discussions, participants are encouraged, even required, to question their values and beliefs. After intense evaluation, many grasp a better view of their own ideas and a more open mind toward the opinion of others.

In the fall of 1978, the Honors Program at Lambuth College began with fourteen students and three faculty members. The first to experience this new program of academic excellence included Brent Dreher, Patricia Dungan, Janet Ellison, Richard Gilliam, Christine Goodwin, Sally Hardgrave, Sherry Hemby, Kay Hereford, Kathy Hunt, Dennis Mulder, Teresa Naylor, Kathy Stephenson, Marianne Wheatley, Kim Wilson, Dr. Robert Carlton, Dr. Gene Davenport, and Dr. Charles Mayo. Of the fourteen students only three completed the six-semester sequence of courses: BRENT DREHER, KAY HEREFORD, AND MARIANNE WHEATLEY. Brent chose to continue the program in his senior year with an independent study through the Honors Program.

By the end of the fall semester of 1981, forty-five students were actively participating in the Honors Program, 163 students had taken at least one Honors course, fifteen faculty members had participated as Honors teachers, and three faculty members had contributed as lecturers.

Marianne Wheatley Archer, Brent Dreher, and Kay Hereford completed all courses.

Pre-Professional Programs

Lambuth offers a Pre-Professional Program which prepares students for entry into graduate studies in MEDICAL TECHNOLOGY, PHARMACY, NURSING, PHYSICAL THERAPY, DENTISTRY, and MEDICINE. Additional pre-professional programs in LAW, ENGINEERING and ARCHITECTURE are also offered. The PRE-PROFESSIONAL PROGRAM allows students to get the essentials for entering graduate study in their particular area of interest. In this program personal guidance is given to all students by a faculty adviser who helps coordinate a program to meet the students' particular needs.

Architecture Adviser: Mr. Larry Ray

Law Adviser: Dr. Rex Wirth
With Dr. Wirth are law students Ricky Vaughn and Mike Gaddie.

Engineering Adviser: Dr. Kenneth Yancey

Interdisciplinary Majors

The INTERDISCIPLINARY PROGRAM offered in the curriculum is only one example of Lambuth's changing educational program. In offering the INTERDISCIPLINARY MAJORS, Lambuth affords students the opportunity to earn an undergraduate degree that will enable them to pursue their particular interests. The INTERIOR DESIGN PROGRAM gives students an opportunity to become specialists in BUSINESS, COMMERCIAL, and RESIDENTIAL AREAS. A program in FASHION MERCHANDISING prepares students to become leaders in the world of fashion.

Just as the introductory picture to the annual shows the rebirth of spring, so does the closing picture show the dormancy of winter. These changing scenes in nature image the changing scenes at Lambuth.

I found the role of Editor for the 1982 Lantern to be a most challenging experience. I had no idea how much time and patience I would have to expend; nor did I have any idea how frustrating it would be to begin the Lantern in October rather than in May. Furthermore, I did not realize what it would be like to accept the responsibilities of organizing a staff, selecting a theme, designing the yearbook, supervising its construction, and meeting all deadlines in a brief four-month period. Naturally, I was deeply concerned about my role and its challenge; but when each page was completed and each deadline was met, I felt less frustration because I could see how the parts would eventually equal the whole. I can assure the Editor of the 1983 Lantern that he will have fewer concerns because a staff has been selected and plans have been made.

Without the help of many people, I could never have completed my role. With humility I want to express my deep appreciation to the Lantern staff, the administration and staff of the college, all faculty members, and the professional photographer. In addition, I want to express a very big "special thanks' to my adviser and friend, Dr. Annie Lou Smith, who without her constant help and guidance I would never have made it. Moreover, I want to give my greatest thanks to the Lord who always gave me strength and who kept me from unravelling before the Lantern was finished.

To leave the reader with one last thought is my desire. "Life is like a yearbook. What one sees on the surface isn't much unless he has memories to back it up."
